Complete Count Committee

Profiling the Hard to Count December 3, 2018

Purpose of this Presentation

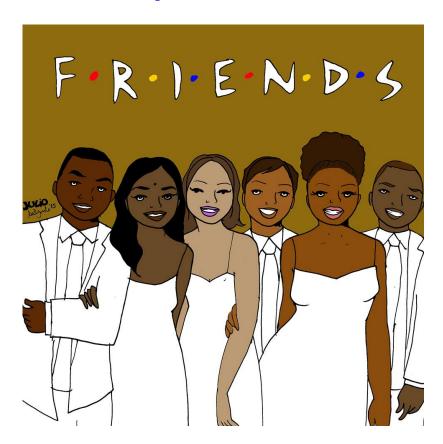

Who do we expect will be "hard to count?"

What are common barriers to completing the Census?

What messages are the most-effective in encouraging participation?

Where do people live that the Census Bureau thinks will be hard to count?

2020 Census Barriers, Attitudes, and Motivators Study (CBAMS) Survey

The 2020 CBAMS Survey was administered from February to April 2018 to 50,000 households in all 50 states and Washington, D.C.

Questionnaire consisted of 61 questions

Adults 18+ were eligible to participate via mail or web

Households in the sample received a prepaid incentive and up to five mailings inviting them to participate

Oversampled Asians, Blacks, Hispanics, and other small-sample races.

Roughly 17,500 people responded to the survey

We have our work cut out for us...

 70% of all people responding to CBAMS plan to complete the census

 Only half of the hardest to count plan to respond to the census

Three Takeaways from the CBAMS Survey and Focus Groups

1: Many people don't understand the importance of the census or know about the rules and procedures to protect privacy and confidentiality.

2: Don't be generic! People are most-receptive to messages that highlight how the census impacts their local community or their personal life.

3: Hearing something from trusted voices is most likely to overcome skepticism, misinformation, and address people's legitimate concerns about the census.
